IN LONDON

GABRIELLE CHANEL, FASHION MANIFESTO
16TH SEPT - 25TH FEB

One of history's greatest designers is the subject of the V&A's next major fashion exhibition. 'Gabrielle Chanel, Fashion Manifesto' will explore the French couturier's enormous influence, from her Parisian roots to establishing the House of Chanel. Expect oodles of sequins, tons of power suits and the overpowering odour of Chanel No5 wafting over you as you wander about. This is an in-depth look at the looks that defined the look of a century.

THE POSTAL MUSEUM
UNTIL 29TH AUGUST

This month, the Postal Museum is marking 20 years since the final mail rail delivery with a 'summer of invention' set of workshops for children being run to learn more about the systems of stamps, sorting machines, robots and rail mail. On the agenda, there are games, arts & crafts, games, shows and more, which take place every single Thursday, Friday, and Saturday throughout the school holidays

TOTALLY THAMES FESTIVAL
1ST SEPT - 9TH DEC

During September's month-long annual celebration of the Thames makes a splash with its mix of art festivals, community events, regattas, river races and environmental activities. This year look out for an immersive exhibition about the planet's simultaneous beauty and fragility with satellite views and a live performer, plus free walking tours, a kayak taster session, creative workshops and a climate cabaret.
